The moment you experience a Western Window Systems pocketing multi-slide door, you know you've never seen an indoor-outdoor living solution quite like it.

A clean design and high-performance enhancements differentiate and help drive sales. And that's just the beginning. Take a closer look and you'll find innovation on every level.

- 1 Panels completely vanish into the pocket, eliminating the barrier between inside and out, expanding living space, and letting in fresh air and sunlight.
- 2 The last panel can be easily disengaged and removed for pocket access, making service a snap.
- 3 When in the open position, panels are shielded from the elements and require less cleaning and maintenance.
- 4 A flush sill makes for a smooth transition to the outside.

An interior-mounted retractable screen option offers a flexible solution to protection from outside pests.

The operable locking panel is positioned on the interior of the sill, allowing for clean lines and a more finished appearance.
